

MCH - On track to achieve mid-teen growth in 2026 - Analyst Meeting Note

Company Research • 06 May 2026

We attended MCH's analyst meeting. Overall, despite concerns on inflation hurting consumer spending and raw material prices, MCH is on track to achieve mid-teen growth in revenue and earnings in 2026 as it accelerates in innovation, branding, distribution and maintain its financial discipline. Our takeaways are as follows.

2026 business plan implementation progress

Period	Revenue Growth (YoY)	EBITDA Growth (YoY)	NPAT pre MI (YoY)
Q1 2026	13.1%	11.7%	11.5%
H1 2026 Outlook	20% both YoY* and vs H1 2024	12%+	12%+
FY2026 Target	11%–15%	9%–14%	10%–15%

* Q2 2025 was a low base due to MCH's reduction of dependence on wholesalers. Q2 2026 to record 20-30% revenue growth YoY, per management.

- Management was conservative on guidance given uncertainties in global conflicts, consumer sentiment and raw material prices. MCH and Wincommerce not yet observed lower consumer spending.
- MCH completed hiking ASP of many SKUs by up to 12% in Q1 2026 to protect margin amid heightened raw material prices without sacrificing volume. It guides for 2026 GPM of 45%
- SG&A/revenue rate to be stable in 2026.
- MCH strives to raise its market share in 6 categories except seasonings from a blended 15% to 20%-40% each.

"Go global" strategy:

- Rolling out formal distribution, supply chain, marketing and Retail Supreme to countries with high GT contribution in FMCG- targets 5-7 countries in 10 years. Maintains export model in other countries.
- Focus on food & beverage with Vietnamese specialties – no HPC.

- However, the domestic market should remain the driver of 70-80% of MCH's 10-year growth
